On to new horizons

New Horizon – professional reorientation programs for careers in financial services

Get the best support for your professional reorientation

Our New Horizon programs provide active professional reorientation support. These programs go the extra mile – offering not only analysis, self-reflection exercises, and expert advice to ensure you are successful in changing careers, but also active and targeted marketing services. We also discuss with you which companies you should target. Make the most of these benefits and take the next step in your career with New Horizon.

Clarity and orientation: Mind One

Mind One offers much more than conventional personality tests. By innovatively combining multidimensional perspectives, it is able to offer you a significantly more reliable and comprehensive overview of both your personal and leadership qualities. Mind One connects and integrates several dimensions to produce a single, overall personality profile.

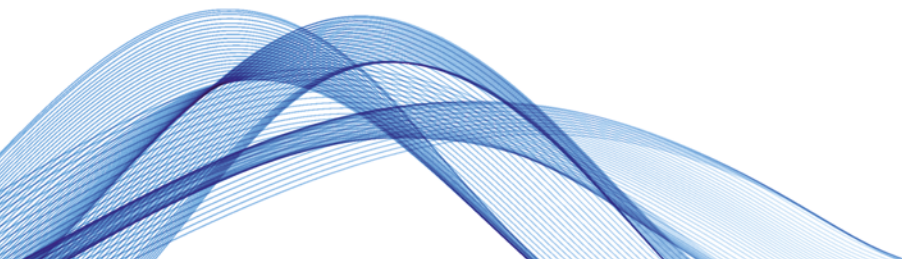

In just 60 minutes, you will receive clear results relating to your:

- Motivations
- Professional interests
- Way of thinking and learning style
- Personal qualities
- Numerical and analytical skills

Opening doors: active marketing

Active marketing involves adding you to our exclusive candidate pool as well as to our financial services clients' own portals. This allows us to promote you in a proactive, targeted, and convincing way. In doing so, we will open doors that lead you to attractive employers.
